WE DELIVER A COMPLETE SOLUTION FOR LIVE STREAMING ON A GLOBAL SCALE

QUICKCHANNEL

OFFICE MANAGEMENT

THE CHALLENGE

Skanska is a global building and infrastructure company founded in 1887. With their global organization and many offices spread out across the world they have had challenges reaching out with information internally in a secure, simple and scalable way.

- We used Skype for Business to host large events in the past, but we always had challenges managing the events and to obtain audio and video of high quality. With these challenges we started to look for a streaming and recording solution and we found Quickchannel, says Fredrik Goliats - Head of Video Communications, Skanska Nordics.

TOGETHER WITH US

Skanska has been a Quickchannel client since 2018 and they started to use the solution for lectures, internal seminars, information meetings and town halls. Without any internal marketing the solution and the possibilities it presents has spread by word of mouth and now they conduct internal trainings, educational sessions and even the quarterly financial reporting through video and Quickchannel.

- When someone books our auditorium they automatically receive the question if they also want to schedule recording or a live streaming event. By making this option available internally we can see the usage has increased greatly, Fredrik continues. Thanks to Quickchannel's functionality to record and stream from any video conference room, laptop or from our encoder in the auditorium it gives us a flexible and powerful platform for our internal communications.

Technological solution used by Skanska

Quickchannel Bridge for streaming and recording video conference meetings from their VMRs that run Pexip.

Quickchannel Broadcast is used in their auditorium where they have bigger live events, where they can use the live producer control and live chat moderator.

Quickchannel Create is used for video editing, indexing of videos and to get statistics of how many viewers they have and what content gets good reach internally.

Quickchannel cloud service delivered by Quickchannel Gold Partner Office Management.

THE KEY STRENGTHS OF QUICKCHANNEL ARE THE EASE OF USE, SIMPLICITY FOR THE END USERS AND THAT IT ALWAYS WORKS.
