

FIRE PROTECTION CLASSIFICATION

ISO establishes general classifications applying to all areas within limits of municipalities and recognized boundaries of protected area fire districts, protected unincorporated communities and rural areas. To rate a risk, determine the protection class from the ISO Protection Classification pages.

Primary Response

1. Where classified areas are published with a single classification number, properties within five (5) road miles of the primary responding fire station should receive that classification number.
2. Where classified areas are published with a split classification number (e.g. 6/9), properties within five (5) road miles of the primary responding fire station should receive the first listed classification number (e.g. 6/9 use class 6).

Reciprocal Agreements

Properties within five (5) road miles of a primary responding fire station which has a reciprocal agreement (definition below) with a class 1 through 8 fire station, may be eligible for an upgraded protection class.

1. If the property is within 1,000 feet of a fire hydrant, use the same protection class as the station providing reciprocal fire protection.
2. If the property is over 1,000 feet of a fire hydrant or if no hydrant is present, use the next higher protection classification as the reciprocal station providing fire protection.

Class 10 applies to all areas not listed and to properties which are located more than five (5) road miles from a responding fire department.

Definition of Reciprocal Agreement - a formal agreement between two fire departments where the alarm would sound, or the fire call goes in simultaneously to both stations. This is not to be confused with a mutual aid agreement which is more informal and would mean that one department would respond, if called. Reciprocating fire stations must be no more than ten (10) miles apart.
