Change Enablement Services:

Developing a strategy to accelerate transformation

At Vitalyst, we take a human-centric approach to enabling a technology change, ensuring that sponsor and stakeholder vision align with execution to accelerate transformation and empower end users.

Create a culture that embraces change

Vitalyst's Change Enablement services help your organization and workforce build a culture that values and is powered by digital transformation.

Our services outline the business reasons for the technology change, describe how the change impacts end-users, and define the benefits for enterprises and employees alike.

All our services are backed by our proprietary Propel Methodology, based on the Prosci® ADKAR model.

Propel provides customized adoption and skilling programs to set up customers and their workforce for long-term success.
