

A Patient-Centered Approach to Engagement

Relatient is an integrated messaging platform for practices, hospitals and health systems that takes a patient-centered approach to engagement—utilizing the power of clinical data to deliver timely messages to patients and care providers in a way that matches their current habits and preferences.

Relatient and Compulink have partnered to offer effortless automation of appointment reminders, patient billing/payments, satisfaction surveys, group messaging, and more for comprehensive patient-centric engagement. Patient adoption can be as high as 90% with extraordinary financial savings and office efficiency.

As reimbursement models continue to shift towards accountable care and outcomes based medicine, there is a growing need for improved patient compliance and increased revenue through patient volume. Relatient can help you make the transition with proven patient engagement solutions.
