

Social Distancing with...
Constructif - Modular Space Divider System

02_Social Distancing with Constructif

During this difficult period we are still on-hand to assist with projects and help prepare you, your staff and clients for a safe returning to the workspace.

Following the release of the government's "Working Safely During COVID-19 in Offices and Contact Centres" guidelines, the team at Creatif have been working on some ways in which Constructif - our modular space divider system - can be utilised to help with social distancing in anticipation for people returning to work.

Constructif started life as a shelving and storage system, but our creative team quickly began using it to create all kinds of creations, from workstations to meeting booths.

With this in mind we're excited to share with you some idea on how exactly Constructif can be used to create safe and comfortable spaces.

And as Constructif units are all built to order, an almost unlimited range of colours and finishes can be provided, including frames painted to any RAL colour, soft seating options, acoustic panels, TV unit integration and much, much more.

03_Desktop Screens

Constructif Desktop Screens are a versatile, and long-lasting solution when trying to reduce the spread of infection.

Screens can be supplied in a size tailored to fit any desk or workstation, taking only minutes to assemble thanks to our handy clip system.

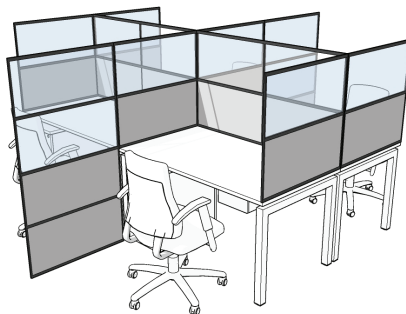

The wide range of finish options available mean that social distancing does not have to come at the cost of aesthetics and design.

Desktop Screens provide a safe barrier between staff, while enhancing visual and acoustic privacy.

We recommend extended screens, further limiting the risk of spreading infection.

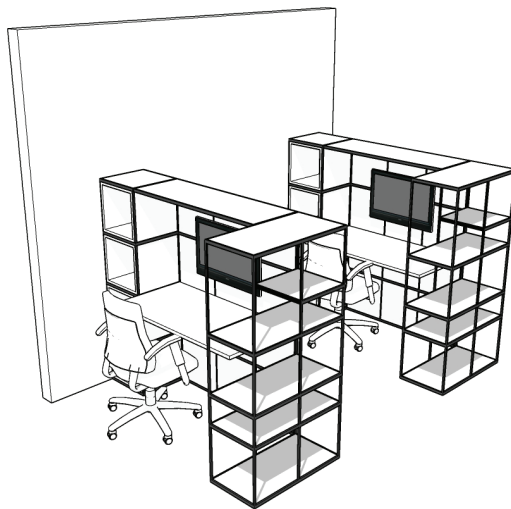

Panel finish options can be made from pretty much any material including; acrylic, MDF, chalk board, drywipe board, acoustic panels and our Whisper acoustic polyester.

04_ "Zoom Rooms"

Zoom Calls have become the norm during lockdown, and will be key as people return to the workplace so that interaction can be limited where possible.

Creating safe, practical spaces for video and audio conferencing (in addition to tasks that require concentration) is easy with Constructif - no matter what the size or shape of your existing space.

The addition of our ReSound acoustic panels further enhances the appeal and practicality of these neat work zones.

Creating spaces big enough for a single user allows for effective social distancing when required.

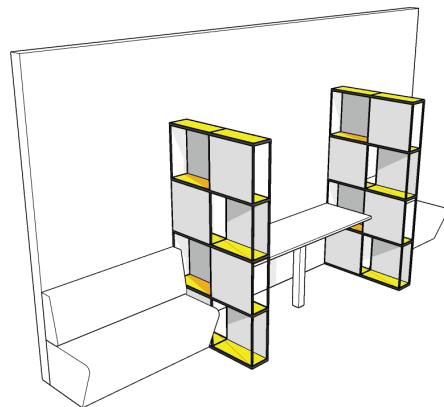

Thanks to the bespoke nature of Constructif units, spaces for any shape or sizes workspace can be created.

05_Socially Distant Seating Areas

Upon returning to work, communal seating areas will need to be adapted to limit interaction where possible.

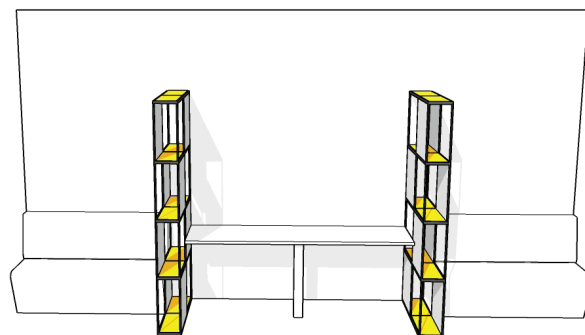

Using Constructif units to segregate individual seats to create areas of a socially safe distance helps to protect users of the space while using existing furniture in-between as and when required.

Socially distant seating arrangements can be created at the recommended distance of 2 meters.

In addition to providing adequate distancing, units form a protective barrier.

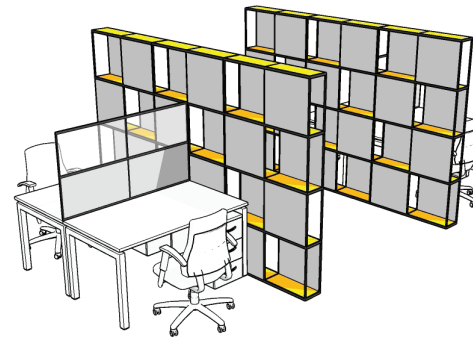

Adding tables between units creates functional space while keeping people apart at safe distances.

06_Hallways & Walkways

The way people move around the workspace will need to be more organised and controlled in an effort to protect those present.

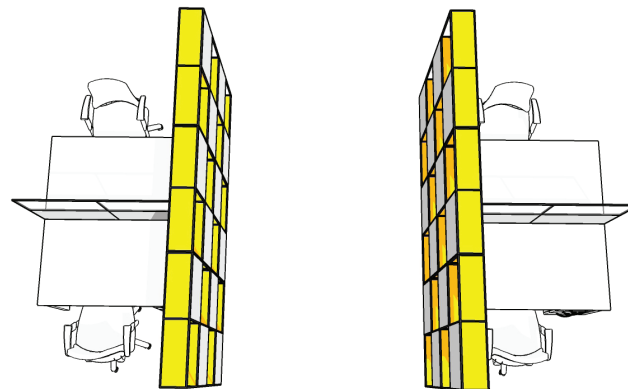

Constructif is ideal for creating hallways and walkways to keep people moving in a way that allows for space and minimal interaction.

Creating hallways forms a barrier between workstations and thoroughfares within a workspace.

Hallways provide a direct and obvious route around the space, keeping those stationary as safe as possible.

In addition to increasing personal safety, Constructif units can incorporate functional features such as shelves, acoustic panels and drywipe panels for added value.

07_Other Uses

Constructif is ideal for creating a wide range of bespoke products.

Here are some other ideas for how Constructif can be implemented into the workspace.
