Application Deadline: April 30, 2022 (rolling admissions-currently reviewing applications and offering acceptances)

Positions Open In: Early Childhood - Grade 5

Learn to Teach by Teaching

The Brookwood School Teacher Residency Program is a one-year accelerated master's degree program offered in collaboration with Lesley University. This full immersion program leads to a Master's Degree and Initial Massachusetts Teaching License in either Early Childhood or Elementary Education.

This comprehensive program allows participants to learn to teach by teaching while simultaneously exploring educational philosophy through graduate courses offered at both Brookwood School and Lesley University. Teaching Apprentices spend each day of the school year working cooperatively with mentor teachers and are actively involved in all aspects of classroom life. Each TA has two placements over the course of the year allowing experience at different grade levels and working with students at different stages of the developmental continuum.

TAs are involved in all aspects of the Brookwood community. They participate in faculty meetings, professional development workshops, parent conferences and assist in the writing of student progress reports.

Extensive guidance and support are provided throughout the program and during the job search process. Students leave our program well-prepared to take on the challenges of leading their own classrooms.

This year-long program begins in June and is open to aspiring educators interested in becoming Early Childhood or Elementary teachers in grades Early Childhood – Grade 5.
