< Dark Web Threat Detection >

Account Takeover

The Problem

Corporate email accounts are easy to crack, especially with 10.5 billion stolen credentials on the dark web.

Once in, criminals can access files, email systems, and begin staff impersonation.

Account Takeover is Game Over.

TRILLION

The Solution

- 24/7 Dark Web Scan
- Auto Notification
- Instant Action
- Risk Mitigation

Data Leak Detection

The Problem

Data leaks can occur for a myriad of reasons, whether malicious or accidental.

Security breaches are a daily threat to businesses, who often have no idea that their data is being stolen.

That's why HoneyCreds were developed.

TRILLION
HoneyCreds

The Solution

Trillion HoneyCreds are unique digital markers that can be detected by Trillion's software on the dark web - letting you know when and where a data leak has occurred.

Shadow IT

The Problem

In the working world, secure intranets and mail servers have made way for cloud services - which can be a highly risky blind spot for your IT teams.

TRILLION

The Solution

Trillion operates comprehensive breach data collections, automatically ingesting millions of new records every month.

Dedicated analysts constantly identify new breaches. If data has been leaked via a 3rd party, Trillion will notify you directly.

Fraud Reduction

The Problem

Attackers know which accounts to target for the greatest impact, with CEOs and CFOs top of the list. If compromised, these accounts can be used to defraud your business at scale.

TRILLION

The Solution

Trillion's AI ranks user account credentials based on potential danger to your business, with automated alerts for each level of risk when data is found on the dark web.

User Awareness

The Problem

In corporate environments, most users are often too busy with their own work to be wary of, or interested in, cyber security best practices.

TRILLION

The Solution

By letting users engage with Trillion directly, they can see the risks, understand the data, and actively participate in securing your business.
