See Your Financial Data in a New Light

Many companies rely on spreadsheets as a way to collect and report on critical data. While spreadsheets are easy to use, they can also hinder a company's ability to see their data with more context and use it to drive important business decisions. If you're using spreadsheets, you're at risk of overlooking big trends, insights and opportunities that could transform your company's financial future.

You need Limelight.

Collaborative Planning & Reporting in the Cloud

By centralizing and automating your financial data in a single system with a familiar Excel-like user experience, Limelight increases collaboration and gives you immediate insights into your company performance and profitability.

Why Limelight Cloud?

- Easy to set up
- Quick to deploy
- Safe and secure world-class cloud providers
- 24/7 global accessibility on any screen
- No IT resources required
- Cost-effective
- High user engagement
- Scales with your business

“Now, tasks that previously took days are completed in minutes and we have the tools, time and expertise to gain deeper insights from our data that are fueling our business decisions and global competitiveness.”

Chris Parriott, Business Intelligence Specialist, GSW Manufacturing

Faster, more collaborative financial budgeting, forecasting and reporting can be yours with Limelight Cloud.
