Testimonials – Events and Video Broadcast

“The virtual booths are spectacular...we are delighted to have built a strong partnership very quickly with the NextechAR team to help us bridge the gap between on-ground & virtual events. We are excited to see how our partnership will develop in the future”

Ezzeldin Delawar
Commercial Manager, Skybridge

“InfernoAR is the cornerstone of our internal webcasting production. A solid platform built by people who know video and how to deliver it. It is a full featured environment that is intuitive to use and easy to administer. Our workflow has improved tenfold over our previous webcasting solution. The team at Nextech have been very responsive when we need assistance and have been welcoming to our feature requests. I don't think our productions would be as successful without the support and attention to detail Inferno delivers”

David B.
Video Engineer, 3-Letter Major Broadcaster Company

“Nextech's customer service is outstanding. They are always responsive and support me well whenever I use their on-line video platform for our training sessions.”

IT Director
Pharmaceutical Company

“ABSOLUTELY excellent day. [...] Our exec team is ecstatic about the results. A VERY sincere thank you for pulling off the level of seamlessness I like to deliver.

The attendees LOVED it and were messaging me ALL DAY. [...] I'm a 15 year veteran of in-person events and know what GREAT looks like. You delivered on my expectations and I can't thank you enough.”

Testimonials – AR eCommerce

"We chose Nextech to ARitize™ our AEVA system because we know it will provide a better level of education for our product and empower the consumer's path to purchase as they shop on our website. We're excited to provide our consumers an AR shopping experience like no other in the agricultural industry."

Kevin Jakiela
Co-founder – Just Vertical

"When LAPG first got contacted by Nextech AR, we were immediately excited by the prospect of 3D-AR online shopping. The largest barrier that online retailers run into is the customer not being able to touch and feel the product.

Mark Hedman
CEO of LAPG

"As a company focused on providing innovative products to the industry, we saw AR as an opportunity to assist in setting Air Sniper further apart from competitors."

Testimonials - Education

"At Ryerson we took the bold step of re-imagining a virtual lab. With inputs from staff, students and faculty we designed and developed a completely collaborative environment that ensures an immersive and fun learning experience for our students. The incorporation of augmented reality into the STEM learning environment will change pedagogy forever."

Testimonials - Education

"This year because of COVID we panicked. I was anticipating people would be zoomed out and we needed something first class and upscale in terms of an online event "

"Paul showed me a demo and I said 'this is it'"

"When I described what you all could do, people did not believe me!"

"Instead of buying bricks and mortar we will spend the money on technology"

"Schools are learning from this experience how to do things online, virtually, do things with technology from their learning experience"

"Families want to window shop, but it's a big uncomfortable in person because their walking past someone's table, make eye contact – awkward. Now they can window shop without engaging an individual. Look at video, download text."

"If the result of my event, families check out 1 or 2 more schools, I've accomplished my goals"

Testimonials - Education

"Might be more than just a temporary fix"

"We need companies like yours to work with the nonprofit. Historically the for profit gets the good stuff first and years later the nonprofit figures out how to get it /afford it. Figure out how to get it for nonprofit"

"Showing nonprofit how to use this technology and afford this technology is something we need to do together"

"The booths were spectacular for people – the look of the booths"

"The Partnership between the black student fund and Nextech AR, is a partnership between a nonprofit organization and for-profit technology company to the benefit of the community that the nonprofit serves. Funders want to know where their money goes."

SWM Virtual Event

"...our event was a success. It was our first virtual event, and I have to admit that I was impressed because we relied completely on you (Nextech); because you were the owner of running the event; it worked well and smoothly thanks to your technical team. It's really important..."

Cecile Le Nay
SWM

"the way the panel discussion was prepared appeared to be natural as the news programs"

SWM

"FRESH: because of the pandemic, you stay all day long in front of your computer... and suddenly you enter into the place where you have a booths, people, videos, and it was really good "fresh" air for the home office workers"

Cedric Rousseau
Innovation Director
SWM

MBE BY BECMA

“All around it [the virtual event] was an eye opening & enticing for everyone who participated”

“This year, everyone has attended a virtual event where a million things go wrong. But, when they came to our event with Nextech, they experienced virtually no issues”

“Because Nextech is a virtual platform, it allowed us to...cover the whole state, compared to our previous in-person events where we faced the issue of leaving members out based on our location. Location has always been a barrier for members who do not live nearby. Nextech removed that barrier”

“It was MONUMENTAL”

“We take for granted the immense amount of work that goes into making an event successful. The fact that Nextech provided so much back-end support allowed us to focus on all the other important aspects of the event that, quite frankly, would have fallen through the cracks”

“The lobby was the most popular aspect of the design and well-received by attendees. Many commented during and after the event saying that the Mass. Black Expo was the most professionally done event that they’ve been to all year”

MBE Executive Director

Horticulture Nova Scotia Congress

"The Nextech team is amazing to work with - always patient, always there when we need them, always willing to adapt to our needs, and always ready to share their expertise and recommendations, all the while providing us with an excellent virtual platform and great event experience!"

Marlene Huntley –
Executive Director, Horticulture Nova Scotia

"The Nextech team was invaluable and always ready to help, they made the event fun rather than stressful!"

Dr. Candy O'Connor –
Executive Director, Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association

Prairie Cardiovascular Conference

"The whole experience was amazing. I was a little worried going into the process because we had never done a virtual event like this before. The Nextech AR team was very helpful in answering my questions and walking me through the process. I don't think I could have had a better experience with our first virtual event. This company and team is very professional and knowledgeable in the virtual event world. I would highly recommend them for any virtual event!"

Restaurant Canada Show

"Compared to any other online events that we've attended, the Nextech AR platform offered a much more sophisticated online booth for the exhibit hall and the broadcast quality production for our stages. And, of course, the augmented reality opportunities really wowed us."

Lorna, Sales and Operations Manager at Restaurants Canada

Restaurant Canada Show

"The platform was above anything that anybody has seen. The interaction was above anything everybody's seen, call the bells and whistles and all the stuff. That's the reason why we picked you guys."

Lorna, Sales and Operations Manager at Restaurants Canada

"I'm showing you what I'm making, and you could actually watch and get to know why the chef is making something and why is he using those ingredients or whether it's a family thing or a learned thing, or a travel thing, and where they've picked up ideas and people were just glued to watching this stuff because it was personal. I thought to myself: "Man, we've got a very personal connection going on in an impersonal environment."

Troy Taylor, President of Operations for Restaurants Canada

Restaurant Canada Show

"Their booth activation and visits went through the roof; you knew that people wanted to see it and they were impressed."

Troy Taylor, President of Operations for Restaurants Canada

"We definitely worked as a great team with Nextech AR and we have nothing but good things to say about everybody that we encountered."

Lorna, Sales and Operations Manager at Restaurants Canada
