

CELLULAR BACKUP SERVICE

Delivers automatic backup network connectivity

Acumera's cellular backup service ensures uninterrupted connectivity for your entire network to avoid processing and network disruptions. Keep payments flowing, ensure operation of internet of things (IoT) devices and prevent lost revenue.

With our cellular backup service, you get:

- Automatic failover to cellular backup when the primary internet service fails
- Prevention of payment processing disruptions and loss of revenue
- Uninterrupted network connectivity for your POS network and your entire network
- Configurable failover and failback settings to stabilize intermittent primary internet service during repairs
- Email and text alerts for cellular failover status and primary internet status
- Reliable connectivity, visibility, and manageability for other business-critical functions
- Better than 99.99% uptime when our cellular service is paired with commercial broadband

When combined with Acumera's managed broadband service, we manage both your primary and secondary broadband connections and get each location set up for seamless, reliable connectivity to prevent internet outages that can disrupt your business.
