Challenger Anyone?

Ramco has recently found a new home for the Challenger 67 yacht named “ENDEAVOUR”. Originally designed by David Thomas and built by Devonport Dockyard in 1991, the yachts were built to withstand the arduous conditions of the Southern Oceans. Having taken part in some of the world’s toughest yacht races, they were acquired by MoD and subsequently used for team building exercises. After being declared surplus to MoD requirement, Ramco worked closely with industry leading yacht broker Berthon to undertake some minor refurbishment before finding an end user buyer. “This was a case where everyone worked really well together to achieve a great end result for all concerned” commented Ramco’s Marine Sales Manager Adrian Foreman. “I think we have both exceeded MoD expectations and made a customer very happy”.
