DistributionNOW provides an extensive selection of prescription safety glasses to meet demanding industrial eye protection requirements. We bring high-value safety glasses with functionality and style to assist in protecting your workers, including lenses from the world's largest industrial ophthalmic provider and frames from various manufacturers.

Providing safety glasses to your employees can be an involved and complicated process. Every employee's safety eyewear is unique to them, and selection and fitment are essential for comfortable wear and clear vision.

DistributionNOW's SRx program is a single-source solution to assist in the management of prescription eyewear for your employees' workplace and home needs. Programs are established to your requirements for styles and options.

We have a vast network of dispensers across the U.S. to provide a high level of quality and convenience of service. We offer on-site dispensing where applicable, eliminating your employees' need to go to the dispenser's office.
