

Better Outcomes Case Study

Delivery of 67 qualified and highly skilled contract and permanent IT hires created Better Outcomes for our Client

Agilus has a very successful and mutually rewarding working relationship with a large financial services organization. To date we have delivered 67 contract and permanent IT hires. This relationship has matured based on our diligent production of high-quality candidates, but also approaching our relationship with a high level of partnership. Our account management team regularly meets with hiring managers for both the IT and Finance/Admin job families at the client locations in Toronto, London and Winnipeg. Our deep understanding of their respective IT stacks and financial practices allows Agilus to be predictive and proactive in, not only the clients' needs but also, proactively promoting candidates that we feel would be a strong fit for their culture. For nearly a decade one of the largest financial organizations in the country has looked at Agilus to be a partner on projects that address their most critical talent needs.
