The National Electrical Contractors Association issued the following statement of neutrality on H.R. 842, also known as the PRO Act:

H.R. 842, Protecting the Right to Organize Act (PRO Act), is a complex and expansive piece of legislation. While NECA is pleased to see the bill contain a solution to the challenge of worker misclassification, we hold concerns over the potential for broader legal actions taken under this legislation. With these conflicting concerns we intend to remain neutral on the bill. Our Government Affairs staff will continue to aggressively monitor its progression and work with the Senate to improve this legislation. We will update our membership as it moves through Congress and if there are any changes in our position.

ABOUT THE NATIONAL ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS ASSOCIATION

NECA is the voice of the $171 billion electrical construction industry that brings power, light and communication technology to buildings and communities across the United States. NECA's national office and 118 local chapters advance the industry through advocacy, education, research and standards development.
