Unlock The Agile Workspace

Helping public sector organisations communicate faster and smarter to improve citizen services.

Amid growing demand for services and shrinking budgets, public sector organisations face significant pressures to do more with less, resulting in a marked shift in frontline services.

Despite these challenges, there is a clear desire and willingness within the public sector to deliver citizen-centric services that improve lives and make communities stronger.

Digital technology can help improve resident interactions, support collaboration with colleagues and partners and deliver high quality experiences for communities at lower cost.

Six Degrees delivers 8x8 X Series and its other cloud communication solutions to the public sector via the Network Services 2, RM3808 Framework.
