

Cyber Threat Intelligence

Identify, understand and address the cyber risks you face

Contact your Account Manager or email cyberclinic@6dg.co.uk

We operate in an increasingly hostile, complex cyber security landscape. In order to maintain a robust cyber security posture your organisation needs to identify, understand and address the cyber risks it faces, not just within your environment but also throughout your operating landscape. Six Degrees' Cyber Threat Intelligence services allow you to anticipate and understand threats from both inside and outside your organisation, enabling you to enhance your cyber security posture and reduce the risk of suffering financial, operational and reputational damage as the result of a targeted cyber-attack.

- Threat Vectors. Identify which malicious actors are taking an interest in your organisation, how much damage can be done to you by your existing internet footprint.
- Homeland Security. Identify threats that are present in your environment, and understand what damage they could cause.
- Data Risk. Understand how much of your data is exposed online, and whether your domain will be involved in multiple breaches.
