

About David Maylor

David Maylor has a wealth of business experience both as a leader inside an organization and now as a coach and facilitator. He has a passion for helping individuals and teams to recognize what they do and what they could do better in their business environments. So all of his work is based around getting everyone to their next level, whatever that is.

His strengths are creating safe environments where people can practice skills, get detailed feedback on their strengths and development areas, then build practical plans for moving forward. Understanding that authenticity is the key to great outcomes, David places a big focus on what truly inspires and drives individuals, knowing that this is the platform on which they will all excel.

As well as being a qualified coach, David has a degree in Sports Science which helps him with deep insights into effort and motivation. He also understands the importance of commercial outcomes and he looks to combine both in his work with organizations and their leaders.

Examples of David's work

- Provided Leadership Skills Development through group workshops and one-to-one management coaching for an internationally recognized healthcare provider
- Co-designed and delivered a leadership academy as part of a significant company-wide behavioral change program for a UK-based construction company
- Facilitating Leadership Skills Development around presentations and negotiating for a local IT company

Accreditations

- 16PF Karson Clinical Report (KCR)
- DISC® System
- Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI™)
- NLP Master Practitioner
- Strengths Deployment Inventory (SDI)
- The British Psychological Society (BPS) Levels A & B
- The Science of Happiness at Work™

What our clients say about David

"Highly stimulating with great learning. David's a high skilled facilitator, and generous with his resources. This will have long lasting impact on my practice and thinking." Director, leading healthcare provider

"Thank you for providing such positive and rewarding program. I know for a fact everyone is feeling more confident about presenting at the sales meeting next week as a result." HR Manager, global retailer

"David gave excellent and actionable suggestions. Good balance between theory, observing others in video and doing it ourselves." Masters Student, international UK-based business school