Simple, fast, accurate, intelligent document processing in the cloud aluma.io is a cloud-native, intelligent document processing service offering information management vendors a fast and cost-effective way to embed cutting-edge AI/ML-based document capture and data extraction into their devices, applications, and processes.

Document Processing Enhanced with AI/ML

Document Classification
aluma.io delivers comprehensive, automated document classification without requiring manual training.

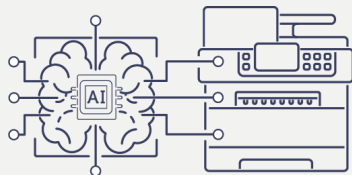

Data Extraction
Entity extraction of all relevant data from any document type is a core capability of aluma.

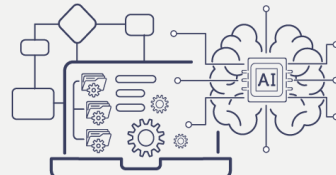

Solution Specific
aluma.io offers numerous solution specific capabilities to get projects up and running quickly.

Rapid integration to any device, application or process

Device
Embed classification software directly onto MFD or scanner to streamline document capture.

Application
Direct integration to ECM/DM applications adds value to vendors and users.

Process
Enrich existing content as part of a business process using integrated AI tools.

aluma