Hippo Manager Announces Dragon Veterinary Integration

LEXINGTON, Ky – Hippo Manager Software, Inc., is announcing their partnership and integration with Dragon Veterinary, a dictation software designed specifically for the veterinary practice industry. The integration allows for greater efficiency within Hippo Manager’s already optimized practice management software system so that veterinarians and their staff can seamlessly update patient records via voice control, enhancing a practice’s ability to quickly and efficiently run business functions alongside optimal patient care.

“Hippo Manager is an easy to use, cloud-based, customizable veterinary software that helps veterinarians and vet professionals manage their offices by making the software a seamless part of how veterinarians and their staff conduct business,” says Sam Razor, Hippo Manager CEO. He continues, “Adding the integration of Dragon Veterinary within Hippo Manager delivers a streamlined process for our practice partners delivering on our philosophy of providing the largest independent practice management software solution in the United States with the most robust features and full service offerings.”

Tobias King, COO of Dragon Veterinary adds “Dragon Veterinary is thrilled to be partnering with Hippo Manager. Through various testing we are pleased to announce complete integration, meaning that you will have full control over your dragon and access to dragon features while using Hippo Manager.”

Adding the Dragon Veterinary integration to Hippo Manager veterinary practice management software enables all partner practices to dictate directly into the cloud system appointments, chart notes, medications and more, essentially all areas that enable free typing, now allow for total verbal dictation control. Though dictation technology is commonly used amongst consumers in day-to-day functions via their cell phone device, the dictation technology that Dragon Veterinary offers through Hippo Manager is specifically tailored to the veterinary industry professional allowing for higher accuracy with commonly used medical and veterinary terminology. Hippo Manager practice partners can add-on the Dragon Veterinary service through this integration, and existing Dragon customers can easily begin service with Hippo Manager. Sam Razor comments, “Now that this level of technology is available to the veterinary industry, the ability to efficiently use hands-free voice dictation as a practice enhancement, is now available through Hippo Manager as a preferred practice management software provider.”

Hippo Manager is the most cost efficient full service veterinary cloud practice management software on the market and has the same full functionality as more expensive competitors. Hippo Manager is partnered with Amazon Web Services to host veterinary software data safely and securely in the cloud. Instead of hosting expensive servers, clients can access the information anytime, from anywhere, on any device using their Internet browser. Hippo Manager is available to all veterinary practices globally through a no-obligations free trial that can be requested anytime at HippoManager.com
