WELCOME TO THE OLD PRINTWORKS

On the grounds of one of the United Kingdom's once foremost colour printers, a new sanctuary to life is rising.

The Old Printworks is located in Frome, voted by The Times as one of England's most vibrant, life affirming towns for young, old and growing families. This innovative, design-led regeneration development incorporates materials inspired by and sympathetic to its natural surroundings. The collection of modern 2, 3 and 4 bedroom homes are nestled against the evergreen Frome river banks and connected by a new footpath giving direct access to serene riverside walks.

HISTORY

BUTLER, TANNER AND DENNIS PRINTERS

For lovers of the printed book, the name Butler & Tanner rings a distinct bell.

Established in Frome by W.T. Butler in 1845, the company went into partnership with Joseph Tanner in 1863, delivering print services including large-format sheet-fed presses for Heidelberg and digital print kits for Kodak. They quickly became the most prominent colour book printers, where The Lion, The Witch & The Wardrobe by C.S. Lewis was published, and where Ariel, a biography of the English Romantic poet Percy Bysshe Shelley became the first Penguin Book.

The first digital presses were installed in 1998 and although the company fell into administration in 2007, it was saved by Felix Dennis of Dennis Publishing, which traded until its close in 2014. Spanning over 165 years, Butler, Tanner & Dennis led the way for many decades and established an admirable legacy in the colour printing world.

ARCHITECTS VISION

The new homes at The Old Printworks have been carefully curated by Pad design as part of redeveloping and renewing the former Butler, Tanner & Dennis site. The vision was to create high quality homes that provided a unique addition to Frome's existing community while keeping Acorn's 'Different by Design' ethos at the heart to deliver a scheme which offers bespoke, design-led homes inspired by nature.

The architectural response draws reference to the rectilinear form and orientation of the former printworks buildings. The new homes follow a direct route extending along Caxton Road to create a view corridor leading from the entrance to the open green space and views to the valley beyond. The vision places great importance on useable public open space, retained ecology and riverside walks for the new community to gain a closer interaction with the surrounding wildlife and an environment which promotes improved wellbeing.

Reinterpreting local building characteristics in a contemporary way ensure the new homes created meet the needs of modern living whilst remaining sympathetic to the wider townscape.

The building facades combine composition and function to deliver homes with generous windows and roof-lights which flood the interiors with natural light and the large openings frame the views of the beautiful surrounding countryside. Interiors have been carefully designed to deliver space for flexible living with open plan layouts and oversized floor to ceiling heights.

Significant emphasis was also placed on material quality and texture. A neutral palette of natural materials including stone, brick and render, with the chosen brick selected to emulate the tonal variations of local stone.
