Marker Based WebAR Example

1.

Use your device camera to SCAN this QR code...

2.

Then use your web browser to SCAN this marker...

Methods for Triggering WebAR Scenes

Making It Simple to Engage

- Use branding and iconography
- Present the consumer with directions
- Explain the process & set expectations
- Use the medium to your advantage

Branded Iconography

- Consider giving your AR efforts their own identity
- Icons that act as signposts within new and existing marketing
- Icons placed in proximity to markers or links
- Provide a key that explains what this icon means
- Use when and where it makes sense

Directions For Engagement

- Give the consumer a clear set of “to do’s”
- Be concise and to the point
- Marker based and Marker Less workflows have different needs
- Sample Instructions:

1. SCAN this QR code with your device’s camera app to launch our web page.
2. Then use the browser to SCAN the image above to see what we have waiting for you

QR Code Lore

- Act as a beacon on you page
- Use URL shorteners
- Size does matter
- Contrast also is important
- Consider placement proximity
- Feel free to embellish
- Mindbender... QR codes CAN also serve dual a purpose!

Landing Pages & Before the Scan

1. Set expectations for what comes next

2. Give them cues on what to do

3. Leverage mobile web best practices for usability

Links

- Social media posts (paid and or free)
- Web site links
- Links within emails
- SMS
- Paid ads
- Search results

WebAR in Action

Web Site Enhancement Example

- Current Web site viewed on a computer and mobile device
- Traditional Product View uses multiple 2D photos to convey

Computer Page View Reimagined

- Photos replaced with 3D object file that can be rotated in any direction
- Allows for interactive engagement with the product.
- New view also includes a QR Code that will trigger a view in room feature when scanned with a smart phone
