Fund Performance

Global markets rallied in early November as travel restrictions loosened and corporations continued their return to normalcy. Covid-19 data continued to look positive with stabilising mortality despite increasing cases and vaccinations. In the latter half of the month these gains were paired back, with Jerome Powell's more hawkish stance towards inflation and the World Health Organisation labelling Omicron a variant of concern weighing down on market sentiment.

PAC Capital Growth portfolio returned 2.28%, outperforming the benchmark by 0.71%. The portfolio's strongest performing asset classes throughout the month were: (i) listed equities; (ii) listed property and; (iii) listed infrastructure. We remained overweight to international equities to provide portfolios with a slight bias towards the technology sector which we expected would be sheltered from Covid-19 disruptions and inflationary pressures. This proved only partially correct as renewed focus from the Federal Reserve on price stability caused internal markets to falter. Our strategic exposure towards property and infrastructure continued to provide portfolios with protection against inflation and exposure towards the reopening thematic.
