

Amazing introductory profiling offer

Includes remote working behaviours!

As many of us are adapting quickly to working remotely, understanding our own preferences around different ways of working with others has never been more important.

We recognise that many of you are facing challenges at this time and we hope our newly designed High Performance Plus report with brand new sections specifically focussing on remote working will be helpful.

Take a look inside our report to see how this could help you and your team at this time (please open the attached sample profile).

You'll notice some great sections that are specifically useful right now...

- Remote working – How can we be more productive & manage frustrations?
- Resilient strengths – How can we play to our real strengths?
- Handling setbacks – How can we manage challenges?
- Role agility - How do we react to change?
- Enabling engagement – How can we stay motivated?

For a limited period* this report is available at £99 as an introductory offer.

Further Discounts available if you...

- combine reports with an individual or team remote coaching session
- purchase blocks of reports
- are a Not-For-Profit organisation

To find out how this report can help you and your team email contact@colour-profiling.com or call +44 01225 721 971.

Different world. Different challenges. Different report.

*July 31st 2020

www.colour-profiling.com

